In a rare move that draws huge applause for AJYCP (/taxonomy/term/1764), the organization is evincing keen interest to adopt one of the hapless rhino calf in Kaziranga (/taxonomy/term/122) National (/taxonomy/term/1874) Park.

Talking to Assam Times in Guwahati on Thursday, AJYCP (/taxonomy/term/1764) president Biraj Kumar Talukdar said that they would fund the Kaziranga (/taxonomy/term/122) authority to feed the calf a week after its mother was washed away from the flood waters (/taxonomy/term/2337) that swept the famed national park.

“We want to do something exemplary. We will help the rhino calf survive. We would provide financial assistance of Rs (/taxonomy/term/1690)2 (/taxonomy/term/1690),000 daily to feed the calf. We hope it would encourage others to follow (/taxonomy/term/2296) the path,” said Talukdar.

Notably, dozens of rhino calves have been rescued (/taxonomy/term/1630) by the authorities in Kaziranga (/taxonomy/term/122) who are being kept at the wildlife rehabilitation camp.
