

Assam Times

assamtimes.org

Charaipung: Present tense past perfect

editor · 19:25, 24 Aug 2010 · 65147 views · 1 min read

Charaipung still remains tense on Tuesday even as joint patrolling is on along the Assam-Arunachal Pradesh border. According to allegations, the Assam Government is not doing enough to protect its people in along the border areas in Charaipung which is why tension grips following alleged encroachment by a section of people from the neighbouring state. NSCN(IM) is also alleged to have aided and abeted the trouble mongers. On the other hand, 12 organisations led by AASU are contuning their indefinite economic blockade in Kanubari-NEFA road, Chharaipung- Longding road in Sivasagar district and Joypore-Tezu road in Dibrugarh district for the third day demanding arrest ofthe culprits that destroyed the Charaipung police outpost and several houses.

editor

Please send your comments to editor@assamtimes.org

Original URL: <https://assamtimes.org/article/charaipung-present-tense-past-perfect-4112> | Published: 24 August 2010 | © 2026 Assam Times