The media fraternity in the city today (22 September) demonstrated their angers against the murder of journalists (/taxonomy/term/2506) across the country. The scribes under the banner of North East (/taxonomy/term/2419) Union of Working Journalists (/taxonomy/term/2506) (NEUWJ) gathered in front of Guwahati Press Club and raised demands (/taxonomy/term/2467) for punishing the culprits who killed young journalist Shantanu Bhowmik in Tripura (/taxonomy/term/1738) recently. The demonstrators also urged the Manik Sarkar led government at Agartala to compensate the bereaved family of Shantanu, who left behind his mother and only sister.

Prior to the protest-demonstration a meeting was also organized at the press club, where NEUWJ president Joykanta Sarma, general secretary Manoj (/taxonomy/term/2175) Agasti with senior journalists Pulin Kalita, Nava Thakuria etc were present. The meeting unanimously resolved demanding a special protection law for journalists on duty across India (/taxonomy/term/2367).
