In a bid to encourage the farmers and agripreneurs the Krishi Vigyan Kendra (KVK) Udalguri organized a day long Kisan Mela here at Bordoloi Bhawan hall in Tangla on Wednesday. The programme graced by Lok Sabha, Member of Parliament, Ramen Deka was also attended by a number of farmers and agripreneurs from nook and corners of the district including Rowta, Udalguri, Mazbat. The participants through 25 mini stalls also displayed their handloom products and agro-produces including vegetables, black-rice, varieties of pithas, edible mushrooms, live-stocks including Grey francolin, various species of ducks, hens and rabbits among others.

Inaugurating the event by lighting of lamp, Parliamentarian Deka briefed the gathering on the various agro schemes of the government and exhorted the young generation and women for adopting farm experimentation and technology application for making farming more profitable and building the economical structure of the nation. In his welcome address, Scientist, Dr. M. Neog exhorted the unemployed youths to adopt improved scientific technologies in farming for gaining profit and being financially independent.

The event concluded with a ceremony where a number of progressive farmers and livestock-rearers were awarded with Pragatisil Krishak Award by KVK, Udalguri.
