

Assam Times

assamtimes.org

SOCIETY

Maha Shivratri celebrated at Tangla

Shajid Khan · 10:19, 8 Mar 2016 · 10566 views · 1 min read

Maha Shivaratri, the ‘night of Lord Shiva’, was celebrated (/taxonomy/term/2092) in the town in a grand manner, with devotees revering Shiva – one of the deities of the Hindu trinity, since early morning today. The religious ambience and fervour were unmistakable, with devotees thronging the temples of Lord Shiva since morning. The peripheries of temples buzzed with activities as (/taxonomy/term/2291) vendors made brisk sale of religious wares and laddoos and ghotas of bhang. Maha Shivaratri rituals include observing fast during day and night, performing a ritual bath of the Shivalinga with water, milk, honey and ghee, offering belpatra, flowers, and special offering of bhang and dhatura (believed to be favourite items to satisfy the Lord). The Maha Shivaratri holds a special significance for the worshippers, who perform bhajans and sing devotional songs praising Shiva for the entire night. Some special puja are also performed at Shiva temples that continue till wee hours of the next morning.

Shajid Khan

Recipient of The Annual Colosseum Awards 2014 & 2015 (by The Assam Tribune group), Shajid Khan is an Independent journalist based in Assam. He has contributed numerous political, socio-political stories for bountiful national, international as well as Assam based publications including The New York Times, Firstpost, The Telegraph. He also pens down analytic commentary on print and web based publications.

Original URL: <https://assamtimes.org/article/maha-shivaratri-celebrated-at-tangla-16478> | Published: 8 March 2016 | © 2026 Assam Times