Jayanta Narayan Chaudhury took over as new DGP of Assam hardly a month after he was appointed in the stint. After taking over as Assam Director General of Police he said that he would try his best to make efforts to live up to the expectations of the people.

On the tricky questions of mega dam road block in Lakhimpur, he said the police has the responsibility for maintaining law and order and that it would be to ensure that roads are not blocked.

Chaudhury, a 1978 batch IPS officer said was away from the state on central deputation in the IB since 1985 and posted out of the state in the North East, Delhi and the US.
