Guwahati: There is no chance of an immediate let-up in the weather that dampens Assam.

According to what the weathermen say the weather pattern was anticipated to bring heavy rain, thunderstorms, and gusty winds to many parts of Assam.

A low-pressure area was located over the Northwest Bay of Bengal off the Odisha coast and it is expected to move northwards and concentrate into a depression over the North Bay of Bengal.

The Assam State Disaster Management Authority (ASDMA) has predicted unrelenting downpours in the city of Guwahati which might aggravate waterlogging situation resulting in slow traffic movement with increasing landslides.

The authorities have urged residents to take necessary precautions, plan their daily routines accordingly, and stay tuned to official weather updates. Residents in low-lying and hillside areas are advised to be vigilant for signs of flooding or landslides.

"Under this influence of weather, heavy to extremely heavy rain accompanied by thunderstorms and lightning, along with gusty wind, is expected in the western and southern districts of Assam, viz. Cachar, Hailakandi, Sribhumi, Dhubri, South Salmara, Goalpara, Barpeta, Bongaigaon, West Karbi Anglong, Kokrajhar, Chirang, Bajali, Baksa, Tamulpur, Nalbari, Kamrup (Metro), Kamrup, Darang, Udalguri, Marigaon, Nagaon, Hojai, Sonitpur, Dima Hasao, Cachar, Hailakandi etc," said ASDMA.
