NSCN(K) rebels dead in army's surgical strike!

AT News · 21:32, 27 Sept 2017 · 7796 views · 1 min read

Two NSCN (/taxonomy/term/2398)(K) rebels are believed to have died and several others sustained injury as army claimed to have launched (/taxonomy/term/1637) surgical strike against trouble mongers along the Indo-Myanmar (/taxonomy/term/2252) border in Nagaland (/taxonomy/term/1597).

Army jawans are believed to have partially dismantled terror infrastructure with the strike against the north eastern rebels who keep moving in the area en route to the north eastern states of Assam, Arunachal Pradesh, Manipur and Meghalaya.

Assam still had two outfits namely ULFA (I), NDFB(S) active while GNLA keep striking in Meghalaya. Manipur had been a hotbed of insurgent activities for the last two decades.
