

Assam Times

assamtimes.org

Operation CM for missing Khandu

AT News · 20:51, 1 May 2011 · 63951 views · 2 min read

More than 24 hours have passed but the information and where about of Arunachal Pradesh's Chief Minister is yet to be found. Some sources from the CM office said that he his safe but no one could find where is Dorji Khandu,CM of Arunachal Pradesh.

Three helicopters and more than 300 army people are being engaged in the search operation for the CM. Apart from Indian Army, Indian Air force, Sasastra Seema Bal (SSB) Indo Tibetan Border Police (ITBP) and others are also actively engaged in search operation of chief minister. Communication has been made with the government of Bhutan and they have provided permission for search and rescue in there areas. Meanwhile two union ministers have reached Guwahati to get updates about the entire incident.

Bad weather has become hurdled this morning as search operation got some challenges due to this. But as search operation is on it is expected that the information would be collected soon. It is to be mentioned that Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) has also come into the scene as they have engaged satellites to take picture and help in the search operation of missing CM.

Yesterday there was confusion in the afternoon with claims made by Arunachal Governor and then CM's office and Defence spokesperson. But the fact till now is that there is no correct information about the helicopter for which operation to find the CM and others are on. It has bought confusion amongst the people of the region as there were different comments from different sources. As the search operation is on in full swing, it is expected that latest information and authentic information would be available soon.

AT News

Assam Times Staff. editor@assamtimes.org

Original URL: <https://assamtimes.org/article/operation-cm-for-missing-khandu-4789> | Published: 1 May 2011 | © 2026 Assam Times