The Dhemaji police team set up to probe the Silapothar arson early this month has been interrogating Soobodh Biswas a day after the main accused was caught \(/taxonomy/term/2308\) in West Bengal on Wednesday.

Police officials are tightlipped on the revelations but the physician turn social activists for the Hindu Bangla-speaking people is believed to have invited the clash where a section of the protestors ransacked a local AASU office triggering statewide protest.

But the investigators would ascertain the charges against \(/taxonomy/term/1929\) him after corroborating with the statements of 45 other people now under police custody.

Biswas, whom, police kept at a police guest house after tbd arrival on Wednesday would be flown to Dhemaji to be produced before a local court in a day or two.

On the other hand, AASU along with many other organizations have been staying demonstrations demanding exemplary punishment of Biswas and his associates.
