Amid a string of protest Assam Chief Minister Tarun Gogoi left for Dhaka on Monday to accompany prime minister Manmohan Singh who will be a two days visit to the neighbouring country. Gogoi, who arrived in Kolkata on Sunday left for Dhaka on Monday along with his counterparts in Meghalaya Mizoram.

The prime minister who is scheduled to arrive in Dhaka on Tuesday is expected to sign a set of pacts with his Bangladesh counter part. These include a deal to swap with the neighbouring country where Assam will have to lost a few enclaves in Dhubri and Karimganj district. Domabari, Boroibari, Lathitilla are expected to be some of the enclaves to be handed over to Bangladesh.

Meanwhile, VHP has burnt the effigy of chief minister and prime minister on Monday alleging the land swap deal a nefarious and detrimental to the interest of the country.
