Senior painter Benu Misra and artisan-photographer Labu Senapati have joined in a mission to showcase their works once again in the city \(/taxonomy/term/1957\). A three-day exhibition of drawing-painting, bonsai and wood-works has been organized at Surjya Club (CK \(/taxonomy/term/2241\) Agarwalla Road, Guwahati-781001) which will kick-off on \(/taxonomy/term/1690\) 2 \(/taxonomy/term/1690\) July \(/taxonomy/term/1961\) 2016 \(/taxonomy/term/1961\). The show is scheduled to be inaugurated by eminent folklorist Dr Birendranath Dutta.

Around 30 drawing & graphics created by Misra, who is recognized as (/taxonomy/term/2291) one of the finest, most adored and formidable expressionist Assamese (/taxonomy/term/2159) painters of our time, will be on display. On the other hand, over (/taxonomy/term/2166) 40 bonsai items comprising Ficus Ramphii, Ficus Benjamina, Schefflera Arbocolla, Juniper etc, nurtured by Senapati for decades will be displayed in the exhibition.

A man of varied interests, a professional photographer and landscaping & exhibition designer, Senapati can take it pride of preserving the largest collection of bonsais, some of those are over (/taxonomy/term/2166) 50 years old, in northeast India (/taxonomy/term/2367).

Nearly two decades back, both the creative genius of Assam mounted a joint exhibition in the city (/taxonomy/term/1957), where Misra's splendid paintings and Senapati's bonsais were showcased. This time Senapati plans to add few interesting wood-works to the show.
