

Assam Times

assamtimes.org

LATEST NEWS

ULFA militant held in Majuli

AT News · 22:58, 1 Aug 2014 · 11100 views · 1 min read

Majuli (/taxonomy/term/564) police (/taxonomy/term/762) on Friday captured an anti-talk faction ULFA (/taxonomy/term/124) militant two weeks ahead of the Independence Day (/taxonomy/term/1016).

Identified as Deepak Patowary alias Deepak Bora, the 36 year old ULFA (/taxonomy/term/124) man was arrested in the wee hours during an operation in the river island.

Acting on a tip off that an ULFA (/taxonomy/term/124) militant was hiding at Borguri Joorbil, police (/taxonomy/term/762) launched an operation on Thursday (/taxonomy/term/941) midnight where he was captured in the wee hours.

Six ULFA (/taxonomy/term/124)(I) extortion notices and two mobile hand sets were recovered from the militant.

He joined ULFA (/taxonomy/term/124) in 1996 and later surrendered in 2007 and returned to insurgency in 2011 by joining Paresh Baruah led ULFA (/taxonomy/term/124)(I) faction for recruitment and extortion drives in Majuli (/taxonomy/term/564), Lakhimpur (/taxonomy/term/889), Sivasagar (/taxonomy/term/761). //

AT News

Assam Times Staff. editor@assamtimes.org

Original URL: <https://assamtimes.org/article/ulfa-militant-held-in-majuli-11432> | Published: 1 August 2014 | © 2026 Assam Times