Tripura chief minister Manik Sarkar on Thursday urged the people to vote for the Left parties to get rid of the problems confronting them for decades.

Addressing a huge poll rally at Samata in Nalbari to campaign for Barpeta CPI candidate Uddhav Barman, the veteran Left leader said that none but the Left Front would be able to give the country a corrupt-free and transparent governance.

Sarkar, who took oath as Tripura chief minister for the fourth consecutive term said that while exercising their franchise, the voters should cast their votes only to the candidate who is associated with misery of the people in the grass root level.
